STRICT DISCIPLINE FOR THE A. & M. STUDENTS

Ban Is Placed on Smoking, Drinking and Gambling. College Notes.

Agricultural College, N. M., Jan. 29.—A rigid campaign for the strict enforcement of college discipline is being inaugurated by the college authorities. The ban has been placed upon smoking or chewing tobacco, drinking alcoholic beverages, and gambling along with various other things. The president is making an effort to have the territorial law enforced which prohibits anyone from selling or giving to any student of any educational institution in New Mexico, tobacco in any form.

The Gibson club members have gone to work to enforce their club and arouse a keener interest in the purpose of the organization. The club is composed of people in this vicinity who belong to the Catholic church. On Sunday morning the college bus and delivery rigs are hired and the club goes in a body to Las Cruces to church. John Powers is president and Mr. Stoker is treasurer.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is a wonderful food-medicine for all ages of mankind.

For the delicate, sickly babe; the pale, anemic boy or girl; the thin, tired man or woman; for the aged and infirm.

To all it gives rich, red blood; firm, healthy flesh; strong nerves and muscles; it gives resistance, endurance, and often prevents serious illness.

Those who went to Silver City for the basketball game were: Miss Lena Smith, Audie Crist, Mabel Hager, Ruth Phelps, Ella Pohl, Ruth Brahaard, Ethel Schaefer, Alben Russell, Mrs. Green and professors Lane and Mitchell.

Class President Impeached.
Owing to the great number of clubs and organizations in the school, the week's end throughout the year have been filled with social events and the rivalry for securing dates for open affairs is sometimes other than friendly. This week the freshman class failed to recognize their president and impeached him and threw him out of office. Hugh Floyd, captain of '09 football team, was elected to succeed F. R. Quisenberry.

On Saturday evening in Hadley hall the freshman debating team will argue with a team composed of juniors on the question: "Resolved, That the discontinuance of the present protective policy is our national government is desirable." The 12 has the affirmative and 11's the negative.

Miss Caroline W. Daniels, dean of women, addressed the student body at assembly on Thursday morning. She used as her subject resourcefulness, and brought out many points that went straight home with the students.

Henry McCowan and W. E. Campbell, editors of the college weekly, The Round Up, have recently acquired from Smith & Co. of Las Cruces two lots near the college on the northeast.

The Rev. Hunter Lewis has returned from a trip to San Marcel and to Las Mesas, where he has appointments. He has quite a large congregation at San Marcel.

Plan Baseball Games.

A meeting of baseball enthusiasts was held in the Y. M. C. A. recently for the purpose of making definite campaign plans for the coming season. A publicity campaign and one for funds will start immediately.

A large delegation of students and faculty went to Las Cruces to the armory on Thursday evening to see the "Miller Vane" production at the armory.

A pipe line has been laid from the college main along college row and now the residents of that vicinity can be supplied with good water for a nominal sum.

One of the college orchards near the girls' dormitory is being cut down and put into cornwood. The stumps are being pulled and the land will be used for other experiment work in agricultural lines.

J. Elmer Fullerton, of Socorro, who was taken from school here to a Los Angeles hospital, underwent an operation for appendicitis and is now in San Diego recuperating.

Ellen Beach Yaw will appear here under the auspices of the musical club on February 12.

MIDLAND TO HAVE A $50,000 WATERWORKS SYSTEM.
Midland, Tex., Jan. 29.—Midland is at last to have a water system costing $50,000. The bonds have already been passed upon and approved. They will be placed on sale March 7th. The bids for the construction will be open about March 1st.

D. W. Benson donated the land for the power plant and wells to the town. There are to be six wells, two of which are already completed, and on being tested showed 50 gallons per minute each.

The First National bank building, costing near $40,000, is nearing completion. All it lacks is the instalment of the fixtures. The contractors were Dykstra & Howe.

The block of buildings that was destroyed by fire last October, formerly known as the "Pepper" block, is to be rebuilt. Contractor Nugent is to do the erecting. It will be built of brick.

The land firm of Auerstuer & Willis have established a new town known as Dameron City. It is 30 miles south of Midland. The first issue of their paper, Dameron City Times, was published by the Midland Examiner.

CARPENTER'S LIFE THREATENED BY SIMPSON, WITNESS SWEARS

John K. Rosson Testifies in Murder Trial That Defendant Was in Danger From Man He Killed.

John K. Rosson, a livestock commission merchant of Fort Worth, was placed on the stand in the Carpenter murder trial this morning. He testified that at three different times Simpson had told him he would kill Carpenter, but he never advised Carpenter of the threats, as he did not believe Simpson would carry them out and if he were to mention them there might be trouble on the Simpson ranch.

He said that in January, 1908, Simpson said: "If Carpenter does not quit fooling with my business, I will kill him." In May, 1908, he said: "Carpenter has no business on my ranch and if he does not keep off there I will kill him." Again in March, 1909, he made a similar threat.

Rosson said that he held a mortgage on 1400 head of Simpson's cows on which he had advanced him $15,000, and he had put Carpenter there to look after them, but had given him no authority over the ranch, as he had none to give.

Following Rosson's testimony the defense introduced the mortgage which Simpson had given Rosson and which had been foreclosed by him 90 days after it was due. They then introduced the judgment and papers in the civil case pending between Carpenter and Simpson.

The defense was still engaged in reading these papers to the jury when an adjournment was taken at noon.

Photographer Testifies.
H. A. Scott, a photographer, testified regarding views of the Simpson ranch which he had taken, and by which the defense sought to prove that Simpson could not have been seen by Miss Blevins.

ins from the window of the house at the time he was shot.

Employee Testifies.
W. A. Lodge worked for S. S. Carpenter as a cowboy up to Dec. 22, 1909, when he took a layoff and went to Palestine, Texas, having worked for Carpenter about 18 months. He said: "I knew Bert Simpson, Mrs. Simpson and Miss Laro Blevins. I met them at Polvo in April, 1909. I was asleep in an old adobe house. Mrs. Simpson and Miss Blevins came up; we talked of Gans and Carpenter, but I don't remember what Miss Blevins said about Mr. Carpenter, except that she asked me if I worked for Carpenter, and I told her I was working for him."

Miss Blevins Hated Carpenter.
"Miss Blevins told me she hated Carpenter and said she would be glad to see him die and die. She said Mr. Carpenter had acted the rascal in every way, and said: 'He has taken everything we had.'"

"About 19 minutes afterward Simpson came. I told him I had come to see Mr. Gans. I told him Mr. Carpenter had sent me up to see Gans. He said the place was his and Carpenter had nothing to do with it."

"Then he spoke about some horses and told me to tell Carpenter, 'This horse business is not over with yet; tell him the case is coming up in May and I'm going to get those horses back here this evening and will be here tomorrow or any other day that he wants to see me. Tell him not to send anybody.'"

"In April I met him at Polvo. He spoke of Jim Miller and said he was a friend of his. He showed me a paper, I believe it was an El Paso Herald, with an account of Miller's death, and I read it."

"Eighteen or 20 days after that I told Carpenter what Simpson had told me to, and what he said about the horses."

John K. Rosson, of Fort Worth, a character witness, testified regarding civil matters.
